

Dear LSPA Member:

The school year is coming to an end, but things at NASP continue to be very busy. I am pleased to share the latest updates with you.

The NASP membership year comes to an end on June 30. If you have not already done so, please renew your membership at www.nasponline.org today. Through June 30, you can choose to pay your membership dues online in one payment or three monthly installment payments. Learn more at www.nasponline.org/membership/duesinstallments.aspx.

NASP has added new podcasts to the growing collection available at www.nasponline.org/resources/podcasts/index.aspx. Check out the latest to discover how positive psychology can be incorporated into school practice. Other recent additions include interviews on the latest School Psychology Forum articles.

I would like to encourage you to get involved with NASP's Interest Groups. You can come together with NASP members from around the world who share common areas of expertise and concern. To get involved, visit www.nasponline.org/about_nasp/interestgroups.aspx and then join the conversations in the new NASP Communities, <http://communities.nasponline.org/NASPONLINE/NASPONLINE/Home/Default.aspx>.

Time is running out to submit a proposal for the NASP 2012 Annual Convention in Philadelphia. Visit www.nasponline.org/conventions/index.aspx today and submit your proposal by June 15, 2011.

The NASP Children's Fund, a nonprofit organization affiliated with NASP, funds disaster relief, Youth Empowerment Mini-Grants, Tiny Grants for Kids, and service projects that directly benefit children and youth. To learn more about the efforts of the Fund, Fund membership, and how you can contribute, visit www.nasponline.org/about_nasp/childfund.aspx.

Be sure that you don't miss out on NASP's Spring Clearance Sale at www.nasponline.org/publications/spring-clearance-11.aspx. You'll get early editions of NASP publications at unbelievable prices. Save a bundle on older editions of NASP favorites; plus, show your spirit with special savings on a NASP polo shirt. Quantities are limited so act fast-this sale ends June 15!

There is still time to register for the NASP 2011 Summer Conferences at www.nasponline.org/summerconferences. You'll get concentrated skills development that will help put you ahead of the game for the next school year. Sessions are delivered by experts in the profession and are designed to give you an in-depth look at key topics. Join us in Indianapolis, IN, July 11-13, or Atlantic City, NJ, July 25-27 for these exciting conferences!

It has been a pleasure serving as your NASP representative this year. I hope you renew your membership and continue to find it of great value.

Sincerely,

Erin Gross, LA Delegate
